

The background of the entire image is a dark, atmospheric scene. At the top, there is a thick, billowing cloud of white smoke or steam against a black background. Below this, the words "ROCK AND ROLL" are written in a large, white, distressed, stencil-like font. The word "AND" is smaller and positioned between "ROCK" and "ROLL". Below the main title, the words "TEAM BUILDING" are written in a smaller, white, bold, sans-serif font. At the bottom of the image, a wooden floor made of dark, rectangular planks is visible, receding into the distance. The overall mood is gritty and energetic.

CIARAN GRIBBIN

Ciaran Gribbin is a Grammy-nominated songwriter and performer who, in addition to working with word class artists such as Madonna, U2, Paul McCartney, Snow Patrol and Al Pacino, has toured the world as the singer of INXS.

Ciaran was born during the Northern Ireland conflict and grew up in The Troubles. As a young musician he cut his teeth doing gig after gig in the tough bars of Belfast and Derry. During this turbulent time, Ciaran witnessed the bombs and bullets of sectarian violence and the paramilitary attacks that enflamed a divided society.

Ciaran's first big break came in 2010 when he received a Grammy nomination for Madonna's worldwide hit single Celebration, which he co-wrote with the American megastar and English producer Paul Oakenfold. Ciaran soon became a regular drawcard at music festivals around the world, including Brazil's 'Rock in Rio'. He has opened concerts for massive acts such as Paul McCartney, Crowded House, The Script and Gotye.

Just as his reputation as a performer kept growing, his career as a gifted composer continued to flourish. Ciaran has worked extensively as a songwriter for acts such as Groove Armada and Dead Mau5. He has also worked on multiple movie soundtracks, including writing all the songs for the U2-supported feature film Killing Bono. This movie was released through Paramount Pictures with a Sony Music soundtrack album.

In 2012, Ciaran became the singer of the legendary Australian band INXS. He has toured extensively with INXS throughout South America, Europe and Australasia.

2015 ended with an Oscar shortlist nomination for Ciaran's song Hey Baby Doll, which was sung by Al Pacino in the critically-acclaimed movie Danny Collins.

Ciaran is the founder of Rock and Roll Team Building and a founding member of the supergroup Stadium whose rock-star members have performed with giant acts such as Aerosmith, U2, Prince, Sting, INXS, Morrissey, Ringo Starr and many more.

TEAM BUILDING WORKSHOPS

The Choir

An incredibly emotive experience as Ciaran Gribbin teaches the audience to sing in four-part harmony. This unifying moment will surprise and delight team members as they hear themselves sing together with no musical backing.

Inspiration

A motivating experience as the audience hears a snippet of Ciaran Gribbin's inspiring journey from being a struggling musician in war-torn Northern Ireland to becoming a Grammy nominated songwriter and front-man of Australia's iconic rock band, INXS.

Songwriting

A once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to work with a Grammy-nominated songwriter. Ciaran Gribbin will teach the audience about the organic way a song is crafted, from start to finish. Using only words suggested by the audience, he'll help the group construct an original song with the theme of the event, or a business objective, as the title.

Rockstars

Ever dream of being a rock star? Rock and Roll Team Building workshop audience 'volunteers' are transformed to appear as famous artists such as Amy Winehouse, Angus Young and Axel Rose. Singing live with Ciaran Gribbin and the band, these volunteers always present some of the most entertaining and hilarious segments of our workshops.
